

The New York Times

SUNDAY, JULY 21, 2002

ON THE STREET

Bill Cunningham

Spin City

Fashion designers and their friends attended the Fashion Walk of Fame breakfast awards at Ilo, the restaurant on West 40th Street. Afterward, they crossed the street to Bryant Park, where they discovered the charming new Beaux-Arts style carousel tucked under the London plane trees. And like many another adult, they decided to recapture the childhood fun of summer with a spin on the merry-go-round.

BELOW Patricia Underwood, the milliner.

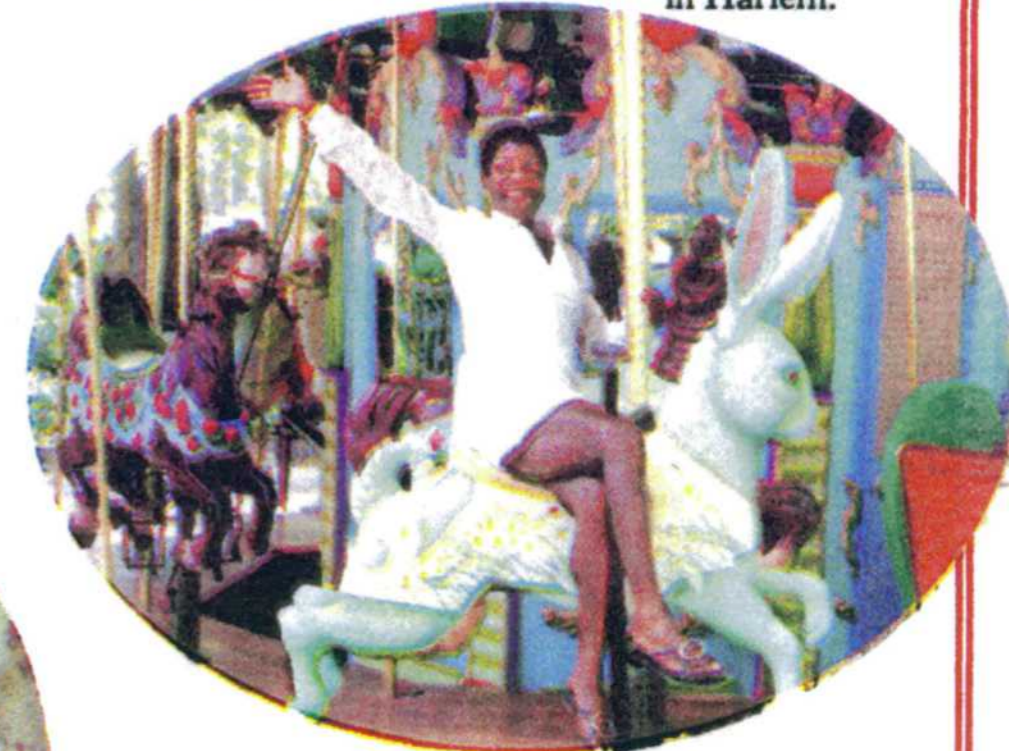

ABOVE Bliss Blood and Michael Arenella, musicians.

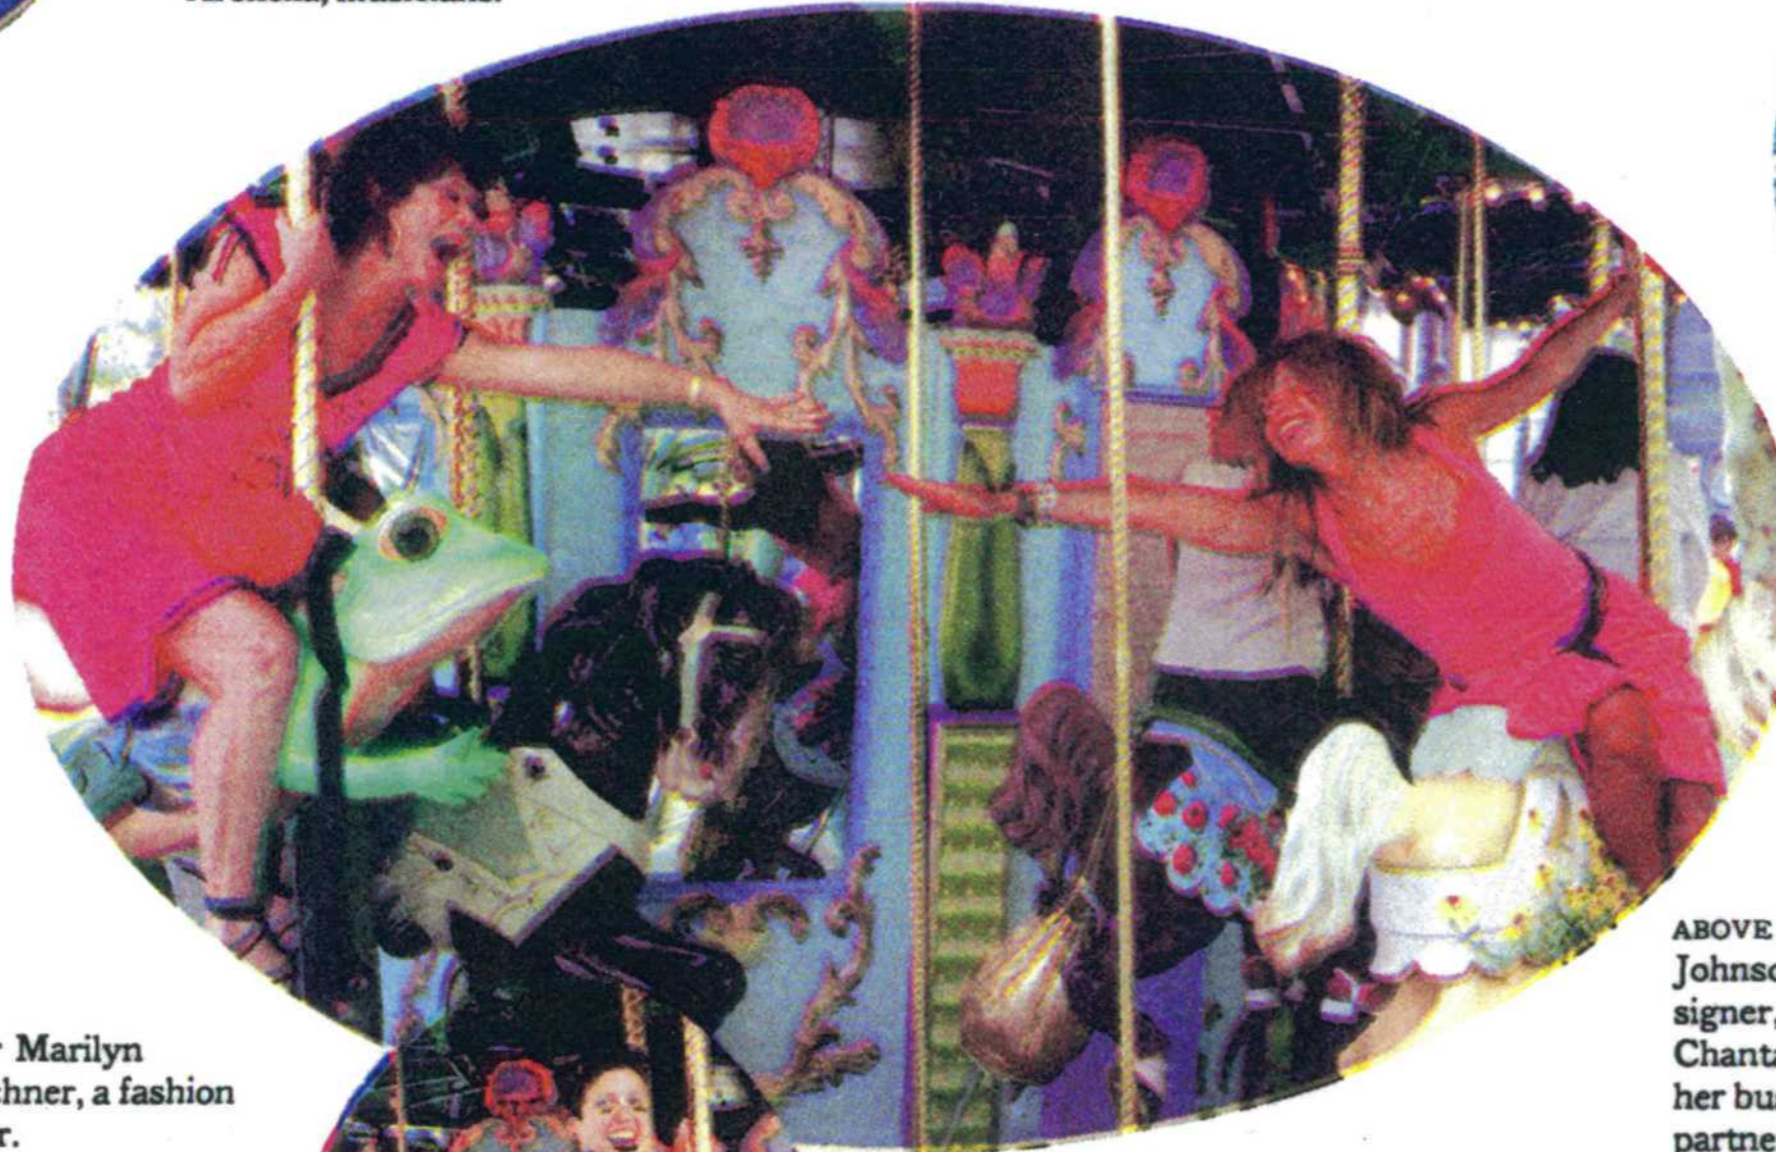

LEFT Jean Rosenberg, a former executive at Henri Bendel.

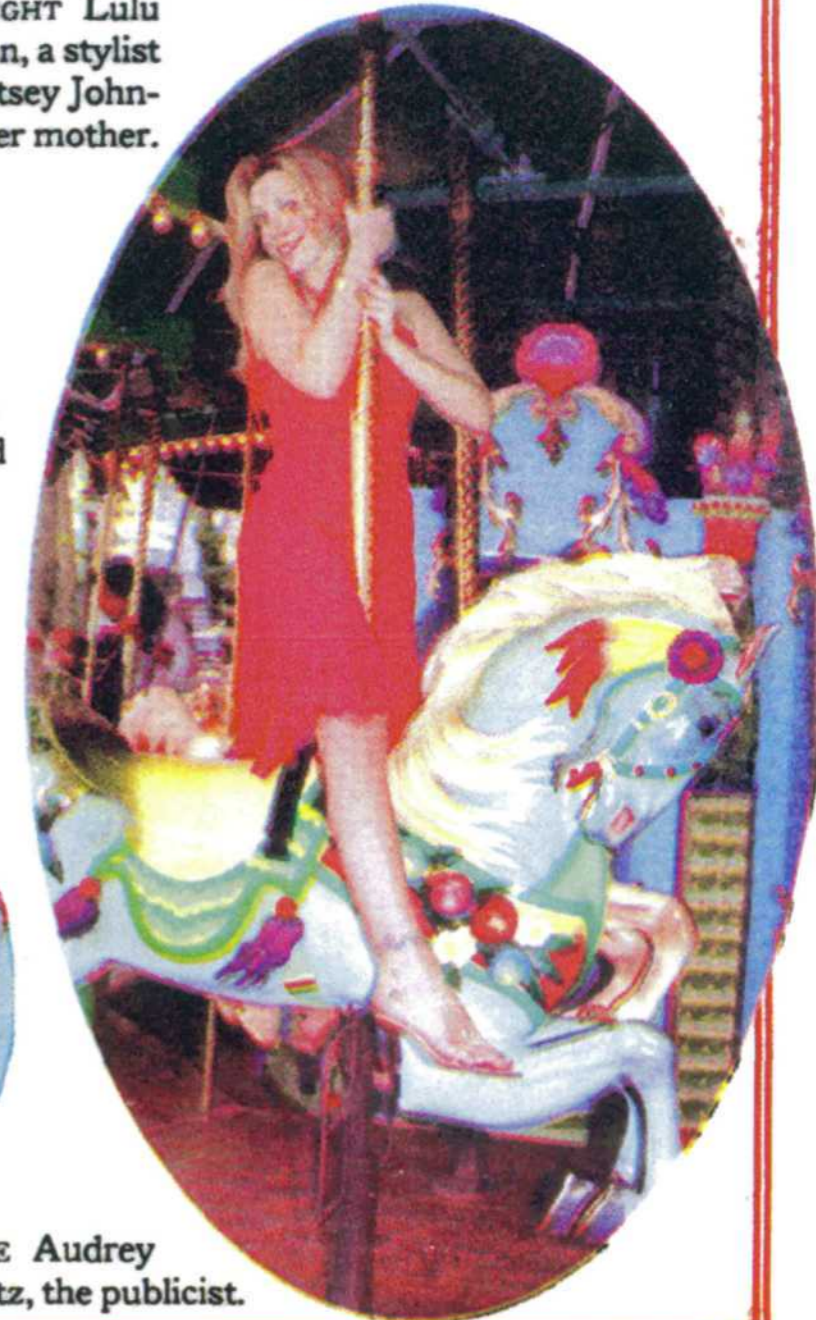

BELOW Thelma Golden, the chief curator of the Studio Museum in Harlem.

RIGHT Lulu Johnson, a stylist for Betsey Johnson, her mother.

ABOVE Betsey Johnson, the designer, right, and Chantal Bacon, her business partner.

ABOVE Audrey Smaltz, the publicist.

RIGHT Marilyn Kirschner, a fashion writer.

ABOVE Bernadine Morris, the fashion writer, and Suzanne Daché, a designer and the daughter of the hat designer Lilly Daché.

RIGHT André Leon Talley, a Vogue editor, with fringed gloves from Dior.

